

Having enjoyed the benefits of the Indiana Telephone Privacy law protections, I write concerning the Federal Government's attempt to modify state law. The Indiana Telephone Privacy law has made a welcomed change in our home environment by reducing the vast number of unwanted phone calls into our home. We could receive 3-5 phone solicitations per night which interrupted essential family time. The law has reduced this to approximately 3 per week.

Please allow the states their rights and obligations to provide for their citizens rather than imposing nation-wide laws that ignore the government that is closer to the people.

Thank you for you consideration.
